Gill Hits A Double Hall of Fame Induction

If you are a betting man, it would be a safe bet amongst most people being induced into any hall of fame in a lifetime. Sports Hall of Fames are reserved for icons and legends of sport to be enthroned for past greatness – like hockey’s Rocket Richard, football’s Vince Lombardi and baseball’s Babe Ruth of the opening World. Well, for lacrosse, such greatness would include the Jack Biundo’s, Wayne Gretzky’s and Bobby Allen’s of the lacrosse World.

On Tuesday December 2, 2002, the BC Sports Hall of Fame and Museums selection committee announced eighteen individuals and two teams for induction as part of the 2009 class. BC’s Gill has named as one of two builders to be inducted to the 41st induction class.

“I thought they had the wrong guy,” stated a stunned Gill. “I thought they were looking for information about the BCLAD and to my amusement it was about me. You expect to be recognized for some things in life, but for something as prestigious as the BC Sports Hall of Fame, it was quite a shock.”

As part of the 41st induction class, eight individuals will be honored, including 1984 Coach of the Year recipient, Buddy MacMillan, who guided the team to three consecutive gold medals in 1984.

In all, 21 individuals and two teams were honored at the event. Gill was joined by the Honorary Co-Chairman, Dale Johnson, and BC Sports Hall of Fame Director, David MacLean.

Soben Gill has managed, coached and administered lacrosse for over 30 years. He has done it all from coaching, award presentations, strategy meetings to organizing camps as fundraisers.

"We had a league mini-camp that was held in West Vancouver and I remember painting balls that they sent their colors," recalled Gill.

He coached and managed Junior and Senior teams from the 1970's to 2000 including the Burnaby Senior A's, the Burnaby Eskimos and the Kirkby's Clippers (St. B), the Coquitlam Senior A's and lastly the Maple Ridge Senior A's. His most coveted victory came in 1980 when the Coquitlam Senior team managed to represent Canada West at the National in 1980 World Box Lacrosse Championships and were crowned World Champions.

He has served as the Commissioner & Co-Commissioner of the Western Lacrosse Association (WLA) Senior A's Lacrosse League for over 10 years, held various positions with the Canadian Lacrosse Association and currently in his fourth term as BC Lacrosse Association President.

"Something else I was very proud of was managing the 75 year anniversary of the BC Lacrosse Association display at the PHIA," mentioned Gill. "We were in Don Asher, Jack Biundo and John Ferguson as guest speakers – It was an honor being associated with such greats."

But this was just the beginning for this life-long lacrosse volunteer. His number came up twice being named to two halls of fame in less than a week. Gill was selected as a 2006 member for the Burnaby Sports Hall of Fame after receiving news of his Burnaby Sports Hall of Fame selection from a friend just two days after the BC Sports Hall of Fame announcement.

"Brianدون [Burnaby Sports Hall of Fame Board member] called me and said I'd be the daily double," stated a stunned Gill. "I've spent most of my life in Burnaby and to be honored by the local Burnaby Sports Hall of Fame is quite humbling."

Soben has received his due credit over the past few years from his peers. In 2007 he received the CLA’s highest honour winning the Lester B. Pearson Award awarded to the person in recognition of his unselfish dedication and outstanding contributions of sportsmanship and distinguished leadership to the game of lacrosse and to the physical and mental development of young Canadians. He was inducted into the Canadian Lacrosse Hall of Fame in 2005 and was the recipient of the highly regarded Sport BC Daryl Thompson Award in 2008. He has served on the board in the past three years but none as important as the grandad to his children, the late lacrosse legend, Bill Dickinson.

"It's amazing for any children to have their grandfather being named in all three halls of fame," noted Gill. "There is quite a lacrosse history in our family which has spanned for decades."

Canadian troops in Kandahar receive lacrosse equipment as an early Christmas present

By: Grant Granger
New Westminster News Leader

There’s a book that’s being passed around the Canadian forces base in Kandahar that’s getting a little dog-eared these days. It’s called Lacrosse for Dummies. A shipment of lacrosse sticks, warm-up jerseys, balls and assorted New Westminster Salmonbellies paraphernalia arrived on the base in December. They got to open it Christmas Eve.

“They were really excited,” said Tracy Brown, a Burnaby resident who got it all started. “It was the hockey players that got their hands on it first. Some of them had never tried it so they all had the T-shirts on and went out to the rink right away and started playing with it.”

Brown has a friend whose brother, Brent Vanover, is a rabid Salmonbellies fan stationed in Afghanistan. She hooked him up with Salmonbellies president Dan Richardson, who organized the shipment that took about two months to get there, having to jump several bureaucratic hoops and getting sent to the U.S. postal depot instead of Canada’s.

But there was another reason it was a while before they opened up their Christmas presents from the Salmonbellies and started playing the game in their open-air ball hockey arena. “Their base has been hit really hard with rockets and this was basically the first time they had the gear out and open,” said Brown.

Even some American and Australian soldiers have come to check it out. No game was organized until this time, with the aspiring lacrosse players lining up east versus west. They’ve all named themselves KAFcomrades. KAF is the air base’s designated symbol.

Warrant Officer Tracy Sprague has been acting as the coach. Sprague is a 23-year veteran from Ottawa and this is his fifth posting to Afghanistan. He’s got a 15-year-old lacrosse-playing son who is really excited about having his father coach the team, said Brown. “Just be patient because we’re getting hit hard,” said Sprague in one of his e-mails to Brown.

They’ve sent some pictures and intend to shoot some video of their games and post it on the internet. “They look young,” said Richardson. “I was shocked by the age of some of those kids.” To be able to see the game we have so much passion for bringing some enjoyment to those guys that are putting their life on the line was a good way to start the new year for myself when I got that e-mail on New Year’s Day.”

Richardson intends to something, such as an armed forces night, for the troops during the Western Lacrosse Association season. He’d like to involve the Westminster Regiment in some way. “It’s a real good fit,” said Richardson.

Brown recently said to Richardson, “I have to buy Brent another Salmonbellies shirt because his is so worn out.” Richardson immediately replied, “No, no, no. We’ll send him a new one.”

Richardson put them in the mail this week, although it’s not as large a shipment as the last one he sent to Kandahar that’s so well appreciated.

A Boy, A Stick and a Shamrock

By: Teddy Jenner

The moment will forever be stained into the fabric of my memory; a moment of unbridled excitement and then... complete heartbreak.

On the doorstep of history and minutes away from achieving a childhood dream, it was a feeling that I wouldn’t wish on my worst enemy.

Moments away from our first ever Mann Cup, I found myself sitting on the bench next to Ryan Ward, who I’ve played on countless teams with since tyke. What made it even more special was that we, the Victoria Shamrocks, were on the verge of becoming the first team to win the Mann Cup on the road since the Six Nations Chiefs did it back in 1996. After batting back from being completely written off in the 2002 Mann Cup against the Brampton Excelsiors where we found ourselves down 3 games to 1, we had done what nobody thought we could do, we had forced a game 7. Ryan and I had just finished a shift on offense and as we passed the water bottle back and forth we simultaneously looked up at the scoreboard - it read Victoria 6 Brampton 1, and there was just over half a game left to play…. Our eyes widened and Ward looked at me, “WOW, we’re really gonna do this!”. And we really were! I knew what was right in front of us, and lost and memory after memory. From those early days, I knew I wanted to be a Victoria Shamrock. It sparked a fire inside me that grew with every goal scored, every game won and lost and memory after memory. From those early days, I knew I wanted to be a Victoria Shamrock.

The moment I pulled on my first Shamrock jersey was a special one because not only had I fulfilled a lifelong childhood dream but I was on a part of that history, a part of tradition, part of a huge family and even more importantly, I was now walking in the steps of those I looked up to. I was once like them, waiting in the bowels of the old Memorial Arena waiting to get Gary and Paul Gait’s autograph or to shake hands with Tom Marechek. I was once like them, waiting in the bowels of the old Memorial Arena waiting to get Gary and Paul Gait’s autograph or to shake hands with Tom Marechek.

I was blessed to join the Shamrocks during the time when Vancouver teams weren’t allowed to draft Island so I always knew that when the time came, the 4 leaf clover would be on my chest. It’s a huge honour to be accepted into the fraternity – one that not just anyone gets to experience.

Some people may never get the chance to play for their hometown team or the team they’ve always wanted to play for. I was lucky enough to be able to grow up watching some of the greatest players ever and make my dream come true.

From being on the only undefeated team in WLA history my first year going 19-0-1, to playing with the likes of Jim Ventman, John Tavares, Anthony Cosmo, Derek Malawsky, Dan Davidson and all the other great players to have worn the Green and White, to being a part of the 2003 Mann Cup team which many claim to be one of the greatest Victoria teams ever assembled, to playing on one of the worst teams in Shamrock history, and of course that memorable Mann Cup game 7, I have experienced all the highs and the lows that come with the wild beast that is the WLA.

I can say with certainty, I wouldn’t have wanted to do it with any different group of guys or for any other team than the Shamrocks!
Christmas wish from a helping hand

By: Tom Berridge, Burnaby NOW sports editor

Some high school students wearing the right apparel can put a person in the right place at the right time. That’s what happened to lacrosse friend and medical mentor Dr. Don Hedges.

Hedges, who is the current president of the Coquitlam Academy lacrosse club, has carried on a medical practice in New Westminster since 1990. On top of that, Hedges has generously given of his time helping various local athletic clubs, as the team doctor for the Vancouver Whitecaps, and his time helping various local athletic clubs, as the senior team doctor for the Vancouver Burrards, and Florida Gators.

During the world under-19 field lacrosse championships in Coquitlam last July, Hedges did a favour for a friend and made time to see Tom Hayes, the chair of the International Federation development committee, who had fallen ill during the tournament. Instead of wearing a Team Canada top, or an Adanss’ shirt, or even the colours of his alma mater, the University of Illinois, to the checkup, Hedges chose to wear a gold shirt from Costa Rican team, and Hedges got to work. He had seven lacrosse bags and other equipment. Dan Richardson of New Westminster Salthawks and Bill Bills of the Maple Ridge Burrards also helped out. Jeff Gilmour of the BC Lacrosse Association and others chipped in as well. The donations moved Hedges. Rojas. “We were overwhelmed by your generous donations,” Rojas wrote back. “Right now, when it seems nobody is eager to help anyone else, you are like a ray of hope for us… Today, I can firmly say that the best about lacrosse is the community of players around it. Hedges took seven lacrosse players with him on the Christmas holiday junket, including Burnaby junior grad Brad Richardson, Ohio State scholar athlete Joel Dalgarino and fourth-year SFU Kinesiology student and former New Westminster junior A captain Curtis Manning. Burnaby junior trainer Scott Alexander was also one of the group members, The group arrived in Costa Rica on December 20 returning home on January 5. The plan was to set aside a day during the group’s stay to travel to San Jose, the capital of Costa Rica, where they put on a lacrosse clinic for the medical staff and players of the Latin American country. “It was fun and good for their players, about what Walter says, ‘Our skills mastery is empirical,’ “Hedges added.

As the son of a poor, working-class family growing up in Danville, Illinois, Hedges has unmistakably made the very best of his talents, and it shows in how he now mentors.

Hayes put him in touch with Walter Rojas of the Costa Rican team, and Hedges got to work. He had seven lacrosse bags and other equipment. Dan Richardson of New Westminster Salthawks and Bill Bills of the Maple Ridge Burrards also helped out. Jeff Gilmour of the BC Lacrosse Association and others chipped in as well. The donations moved Hedges. As the son of a poor, working-class family growing up in Danville, Illinois, Hedges has unmistakably made the very best of his talents, and it shows in how he now mentors.

“It was strange how it came about and a super chance to get involved,” Manning said, adding Hedges is unprecedented in his generosity to sports. Alexander said it even better: “Ever since I’ve been connected with him (Hedges), he has always thrown this in, or thrown that in… It’s pretty inspiring. It kind of makes you re-evaluate what you’re connected with.”

In fact, for Alexander, watching how Hedges makes a difference in the lives of those around him is understanding how everyone can make a similar impact. “I’m sure it will be a challenging road to follow but it’s been very eye opening,” Alexander added. “That’s not all there is in it. It’s just not about paychecks.”

For Hedges, it’s never been the money. It started at Kerksdale Arena in 1973 when he witnessed his first game of baggataway. “I had never heard of the game before I came to Canada, and I don’t pretend to understand its effects on those who’ve had the courage and good fortune to play it, but I see those effects in the athletes and I am inspired by them,” Hedges added.
Coach's Corner

By: Bill McBain

The BCLA with the support of the BCLA are into another busy season of coach training. This season marks the start of the pre-course Online Coaching Certification program. The Canadian Lacrosse Association Coaching Chair is blessed with the support of the BCLA Executive Director Rochelle Winterton and staff.

After the reluctance of the CLA MA/AMA's to endorse the new program at the 2008 CLA AGM, the program may have possibly been tabled. I once returned to BC, the question was raised – do we need the program and if so, what do we do to make it work for the BCLA coaches?

The BCLA Technical Director, Darcy Rhodes, is very excited about the potential of the online program applauding the CLA and BCLA for moving forward with online coaching certification. This will be the norm in future years for all sports while lacrosse takes a front seat with this technology. The BCLA grasped the program and moved forward with the BCLA and coaches entering the program into the initial stage. Associations, clubs or individual coaches simply fill out the BCLA Form 200 (Clinical Application Form) and forward it with the training (clinical) fee to the BCLA office. The BCLA office returns a “Password” for each applicant in either the Community Development or Competitive Introduction stream in box lacrosse, men’s and women’s field lacrosse.

The online program is multi-dimensional, allowing not only coaches to access the pre-clinical material, sign up for clinics and complete their workbooks, but also permitting learning facilitators to log-on and access the clinics they have facilitated and check off the coaches that have passed.

The coach goes online and follows the system through from introduction to completion of the applicable workbook at the end of the season. The question banks are supported online with portions of the coaching manual which addresses the applicable subject matter. Wrong responses require the coach to return to the online material to find the correct answer prior to moving to the next question or page. Once the program sees that the question banks have been successfully completed the coach can click on to the training/clinic schedule and apply to attend a selected session. This request is forward to the BCLA Technical Director who places the coach into the applicable session. This information shows up in the coach’s profile and allows the coach to complete the online workbook on his/her own pace prior to the next playing season. The completed workbook is electronically sent to the BCLA office, marked, and if successful, again automatically sent to the NCCP data base and be reflected in the coach’s passport.

No more chasing clinic fees or workbooks, no more follow-up paper work. Associations, clubs, BCLA office, BCLA and coaches will have one stop shop for checking on the progress for all coaches in the program.

The program also contains such resources as: a drill manual, seasonal planner, practice planner, guides for ethics and support to athletes in training and coaching DVD’s.

The program, complete with the exception of the training material, is also available to any coach in Canada. You simply click on to the CLA website, click Coaches, click Coaching Online Program read about it and sign up for the applicable fee. This gives you all the professional support listed above without the question banks and work book. Good luck to all who experience this new coaching technology.

Lacrosse Coach Awarded for Efforts

By: Molly McNulty, Terrace Standard

For the second time, Terry Monture has been awarded lacrosse coach of the year for Zone 7 in the province.

Monture was nominated during the coaches special session in early fall and the first time he was awarded the coach of the year was back in 2006.

Shelley Anderson, president of the Terrace division of BC Lacrosse, says that in his short time as a lacrosse coach, he brought the Zone 7 team in Terrace three golds and two silvers at provincial events.

“He’s done very well for sure. He’s always constantly striving to improve himself and his coaching abilities to inspire kids to new heights,” says Anderson.

The award was presented to Monture at the Terrace Minor Lacrosse year end banquet ceremony held on November 23.

“He was surprised,” says Anderson. “Wasn’t expecting it, it was nice to catch him unaware.”

Monture has been coaching lacrosse since the local league began about five years ago but has been a coach of many other sports for more than 25 years, listing off basketball, hockey and soccer as sports he loves as well as coached.

“Monture is Irquiss and says that the game of lacrosse is a sport that is in his blood and growing up in southern Ontario, the sport was very big.

As for the next season Monture says that the 2009 Midgat B lacrosse will be the best team he’s ever had.

“It should be the best year, this group is going to be spectacular,” says Monture. “This year everyone that’s playing has minimal two years experience.”

And with an average of only five to six years a game before provincials, players with experience will really help the team succeed.

Monture says that the difference at provincial is that the teams are up against have played 40 games in the season. With very few teams in the area, the Terrace team has to travel to Prince George for games and to Kitimat to play against the senior men’s team.

Paul Parnell Considered Himself a Lucky Man

By: Tom Berridge, The Record

Paul Parnell considers himself a lucky man.

The game of lacrosse gave the Peterbor-ough, Ont.-born athlete a home in the Royal City, a wife and family, a career in the fire department and a storied 15 years as one of the greatest New Westminster players of all time.

“Lacrosse has been good to me,” said the 70-year-old Parnell. “I guess I got my job because I played lacrosse. I wound up as the fire chief, and that was an honour.”

But the honour of watching the 5-9 left- hander night-in and night-out plying the hardwood floor at Queen’s Park Arena was the Royal City’s alone.

For two decades, Parnell starred first with Cliff Sepka on the then-new New Westminster O’Keefe and later with Wayne Goss on the Salmonbellies.

Parnell was named an all-star 14 times in his career, including eight first-team honours. He helped New Westminster win five Mann Cups, earning MVP honours in the Canadian senior A championships in 1970 and ’72.

Parnell was also the Western Lacrosse As- sociation MVP in 1965 and playoff MVP and coach of the year in 1972 when he did double duty as the Bellies player/coach.

In 16 WLA seasons with Victoria and New West, Parnell garnered a total of 921 goals, a record that still stands today.

His lifetime league 112 hat tricks and 73 three-goal games are also unmatched WLA records. Parnell shares the lifetime Mann Cup record of nine hat tricks with greats Jack Bi- ondi and Kevin Alexander.

But perhaps the record that stands Parnell apart from the rest is his record of 195 con-secutive games played from June 29, 1961 to Sept. 24, 1965.

In 1972, torn ankle ligaments and a badly swollen eye didn’t stop Parnell from leading the Salmonbellies over Brantford in a four-game sweep.

One season, a wily doctor decided to put Parnell’s sprained ankle in a cast as the only way to keep him off the floor. “He knew I’d play otherwise,” quipped Parnell.

The goodwill of the Cowichan Valley La- cross Association is about to spread to Africa.

Two representatives of the CVLA: founding executive member Lissa Punnett and her son, intermediate player Kane Punnett, headed to South Africa to volunteer with the Keiskamma AIDS Treatment Program in the village of Hamburg. The Punnetts will be teaching the sport of lacrosse to children and teenagers in the community, as well as helping with an organic garden at the facility.

As part of the CVLA’s efforts to support the program, a fundraiser held at the end of Janu-ary, featured a dance and silent auction at the Moose Lodge.

Lissa Punnett’s sister was working at the facility and informed her of the need for activi- ties for the youth in the community, many of whom have been orphaned because of AIDS.

“There are lots of kids there with no par- ents,” she said. “You have teenagers raising three or four of their siblings.”

Because the community is lacking in terms of opportunities for physical activity, Punnett decided to try teaching Canada’s national summer sport as part of an after-school pro-gram. The British Columbia Lacrosse Associ- ation got on board with the CVLA, providing sticks, balls and duffel bags for the program.

In addition to taking lacrosse to the small African community, the Punnetts also plan to contribute to the AIDS Treatment Program by helping with an organic garden.

“We wanted to do something that is long- lasting,” said Lissa. “We asked them where would be a good place for money to go, and they said that food is a huge issue, so we thought we could contribute that way.”

The Punnetts placed orders for seeds and gardening equipment requested by the program, and will deliver the items at the same time they go to teach lacrosse. Through business donations and the Jan. 31 fundraiser, Lissa hoped to raise $5,000, all of which will go towards the organic garden.

On Sunday February 8, 2009, the Wilson Center in Port Coquitlam was the stage for the Third Annual Free Agent Midget Draft for the BC Junior A Lacrosse League. This was the second year the event was hosted in Poco, and with each year the draft is getting better and better- just like the eligible players.

The first pick of the 2009 Midget Draft went to the Langley Thunder who chose Reegan Comeault from the Ridge Meadows Association. According to notes, Comeault has a great outside shot, likes to distribute the ball well, and is great off ball picks. Langley head coach Jamie Scott feels these skills will bring more depth to the intermediate program.

“He’s a dominant player and a quarterback we were looking for to help us facilitate that role on the Intermediate A team and progress into Jr A. We wanted someone with enthusiasm and heart to provide an extra push for the senior players on our team. Overall we are very very happy with our picks.”

Second overall, the Coquitlam Adanacs picked Eddy Patron from Port Moody. Patron is attributed to have a creative edge, is a dedicated player, and likes to get inside the play.

“When I’m on the floor I like to get open and find space,” said Patron, “I’m pumped the Adanacs chose me and I can’t wait to play at a senior level with competition. I want to bring my offensive skills to the team and take it from there.”

For the third pick, the Delta Islanders chose Brandon Rouse from the Langley Association.

“Rouse is an all around great player with a defensive mind, which will work well with our organization,” said Delta Governor Jim Canil.

Fourth pick went to the hosts of the draft- the Poco Saints, and they took right handed forward Matt Delmonico from Port Moody. Matt is excited to have the current Saints players help him advance his skills.

“They have great ‘D’ with a lot of returning players this year; I’m really looking forward to everything about moving up to the next level.”

Nanaimo picked fifth on the afternoon, and decided on Tyler Berkholz from the Penticton Association. Timbermen head coach Tyson Leies said the reports out of the Interior this year were very good, and had a big factor in their first round choice.

“Traditionally players from the Okanagan and the Interior were picked in later rounds due to travel issues and commitments, but their caliber of play up there is awesome. We wanted to build up our size and skill and at the same time bring someone in with a good attitude- Tyler will help us with that, we are extremely pleased with the pick.”

Sixth overall pick went to the Salmonbellies, who chose Dylan Quinn from Ridge Meadows to add to their transition play and provide defensive depth. The Victoria Shamrocks had the seventh pick of the first round, and brought in Kurtis Green from the Saanich Association. Green likes to play the perimeter, and won a silver medal for box lacrosse at the 2008 Summer Games in Kelowna. Green’s teammate at the Summer Games- Ethan Garland was chosen eleventh overall (2nd round) by the Nanaimo Timbermen.

Final pick of the opening round went to the Timbermen who took Quinn Smith from Kamloops. Aside from the pick shuffling, the only bit of action came in the third round when Nanaimo traded their pick to New Westminster in exchange for Trevor Gains and a second round pick in 2010; subsequently, the ‘Belles picked Brandon Bull from Langley. In the fourth round New West picked Eric Ambercrombie from Ridge Meadows and was immediately challenged by a couple of teams. The ‘Belles insist the player wasn’t on the draft list because of injury, and the matter will be discussed at the next Governors meeting.

The Burnaby Lakers didn’t partake in any draft action until the sixth round when they chose Jesse Harrington with the 45th overall pick- goalie Devon Winters to the Surrey Stickmen, and 2008 #1 pick- goalie Ben Harris to the Burnaby Lakers)

A big thank you to the hosts Poco Saints, Brad Challoner for broadcasting the draft on the JuniorA website, all teams and personnel involved, and CONGRATULATIONS to all 111 players who were drafted!
Lacrosse at Perry’s Prospect Super Camp

By: LacrosseTalk Staff

The BC Lacrosse Association (BCLA) participated in the 2nd Perry’s Prospects Super Camp Saturday January 10 at the Richmond Olympic Oval. The event provided the BCLA the opportunity to introduce lacrosse to children who were CTV contest winners and others who may not have otherwise been inclined or able to play the sport.

Six other sports participated in the annual event; Basketball, Gymnastics, Sport Fit, Soccer, Badminton and Run Jump Throw. The children ranged from 9-12 years of age and were split into different groups identified as Vancouver professional sports teams and all were given different coloured t-shirts to keep. Each group consisted of 35-40 participants and spent 24 minutes at each session.

All 300 kids were split into groups had the opportunity to participate in seven different sports stations to have some fun, learn some new skills and perhaps try out a sport they’ve never tried before.

CTV covered the event during the Sunday afternoon NFL football games and cut in during the games for live Super Camp updates. Full coverage of the day’s events aired on the evening CTV news later that day.

“The coordination of the camp was perfect with all stations located in the middle of the Olympic Speed Skating Oval,” stated Rhodes.

“The facilities were incredible.”

At the lacrosse station, participants were taught basic skills of Inter-crosse; trapping, scooping, cradling, passing, catching and shooting. After the skills were introduced, relay races and games completed each session.

Assisting Darcy Rhodes (BCLA Technical Director) with instruction were current and past Western Lacrosse Association players Kyle McEwen, Ryan McEwen and Steve Hay. Ironically, Ryan and Kyle were poster boys for the 2007 BCLA poster and Steve Hay was on the 2008 poster adding for a busy autoraph graph session.

“The energy of the children throughout the day was incredible,” said Rhodes. “Every kid wanted to learn how to play lacrosse and had a lot of fun.”

The BCLA set up a display at the event and drew plenty of interest from the parents viewing the Super Camp.

During the event, each child received a nutritious lunch served by McDonald’s. Following the event, the children and their parents guardians are invited to ice skate on the Richmond Olympic Oval ice surface and all participating kids took home a goodie bag full of surprises! The BCLA also conducted a draw for a Warrior Lacrosse stick to one of the lucky participants.

Perry Prospect Super Camp was organized by CTV in partnership with KidSport and partially brought to you by the Richmond Olympic Oval, KidSport, McDonald’s and Nike Canada.

No Longer a Saint

By: LacrosseTalk Staff

The New Westminster Junior Salmonbellies have been busy in the off-season bolstering their roster for the 2009 campaign. One of the most desirable BC Junior A Lacrosse League free agents in recent memory will now be wearing the red, blue and white of the Royal City.

BCJALL All-star Curtis Dickson of Port Coquitlam will don the ‘Bellies jersey this year. Dickson, a product of the Port Coquitlam minor system spent three seasons with the Jr. A Saints prior to sitting out the 2008 campaign. As a Saint, Dickson played 53 regular season games netting 80 goals and 83 assists for 163 points. His nearly 2-point per game average was tops for the Saints as he lead the team in scoring in 2005, 2006 and was sixth in 2007 only playing 12 games due to field lacrosse commitments at Delaware.

In the 2007 regular season he potted 12 goals and 24 assists in 12 games for PoCo averaging 3 points per game. He had 10 goals and eight helpers in five playoff games that year. Dickson with his 6-foot-2, 190-pound frame, will be a nice addition to the transition-style baby ‘Bellies.

“Being able to sign one of the premiere Junior players in Canada is a reflection of our organization and shows that he [Dickson] has the confidence that we are committed to winning and putting the best possible team on the floor every night,” mentioned ‘Bellies Governor Waver Weaver.

Dickson will join the ‘Bellies after his NCAA field lacrosse season with the University of Delaware Blue Hens. Last season with the UD, Dickson adapted to the college field game well after recovering from injuries to become one of the team’s most reliable offensive forces netting 21 goals and 7 assists on 54 shots in 15 games. As a freshman, he helped lead the Hens to the Colonial Athletic Association title and a spot at the NCAA Final Four tournament.

Dickson is arguably one of the top Canadian talents playing DI NCAA college field lacrosse south of the border. His box lacrosse skill and field lacrosse endurance will bring a superior skill set to the table as the ‘Bellies vie for the BCJALL title, albeit for half a season and playoffs.

“Curtis is an elite lacrosse athlete with the ability to get the key goals in close games,” explained Weaver. “We feel we have a strong team with a good mix of core players that should keep us near the top of the league through the early part of the season and when Curtis returns from school he will provide us added leadership.”

In their fifth season under Co-Head Coaches Jeff Catrina & Brent Hoskins the, 2008 PNCLL Champion, Simon Fraser University men’s lacrosse team has reached the mid-point of their 12-game regular season schedule posting a PNCLL conference record of 4-0 and an overall record of 6-0.

The Clan opened the season with three wins at home over conference rivals Boise State University (18-1), Washington State University (28-2), and University of Idaho (15-5). Fraser then moved to No. 3 nationally after two-game out-of-conference road trip with victories over previous No. 3 Brigham Young University (17-14) and pre season No. 22 University of Utah (15-6) before returning home to defeat University of Washington 18-9.

A consistent Top 10 national contender from 1997-2003, No. 3 marks the highest that Simon Fraser has been ranked since May 2000 when the Clan were ranked No. 3 heading into the USILA National Championships. Last season, SFU re-emerged to national prominence climbing from No. 24 to No. 5 before losing 9-8 to then No. 4 Brigham Young University in the MCLA Quarterfinals. The Clan has outscored their opponents 111-37 in 2009. The six opponents that Simon Fraser has faced this season have combined to post a 12-15 (.444) record. SFU is 2-0 versus opponents ranked in the MCLA’s Div. I Top 25. Undeterred at home in 2009 (4-0), the Clan have extended their home winning streak to 13 games dating back to April 1, 2006.

The Dobbie Boys

By: Stan Shillington

What an introduction to senior lacrosse! Just 21 years-of-age, Dane Dobbie burst onto the Western Lacrosse Association (OCLC) scene in 2008, capturing the scoring title in just his rookie season.

An outstanding achievement but, what the heck, he was merely following a family tradition – get your early training in Fergus, Ontario, and then sharing your skills with fans right across Canada.

In the beginning, there was Grandpa Bob Dobbie. Robert Dobbie was born in Fergus on January 2, 1933, and began playing lacrosse as a 12 year-old youngster. Within six years, he was playing seven nights a week with three different clubs -Intermediate in nearbyActon and Junior and Senior “A” in Fergus.

By the time he turned 21 in 1974, the Fergus senior club dropped back to Intermediate, prompting Bob to line up with Hamilton’s senior Tigers.

Then, the West Coast came calling. Victoria Shamrocks contacted him several times, urging him to “come West, young man!” and take up employment that awaited him in a shipyard; but, as Bob later admitted, “it was the trip west” that enticed him.

With other transplant Easterners in the lineup (Peerew Bradshaw, Nip O’earn, Jack

Known for their high powered offense, the Clan lead the nation in scoring in 2009 averaging 18.5 goals per game. Leading Fraser on offense has been a trio of juniors. Attackman Ben Towner, a 2008 MCLA 1st Team All-American, currently leads all Clan players with 35 points (25g, 10a) and sits 3rd in the MCLA in both goals and points per game. Towner is followed by captains, Adam Foss at attack with 30 points (13g, 17a) and 2008 MCLA 1st Team All-American midfielder Rausel Thomas with 25 points. (19g, 6a). Junior midfielder Kevin Riley and sophomores Chris Tessarolo and Ben Davies have added strong secondary scoring for the Clan with 20 points (13g, 7a), 12 points (11g. 1a) and 10 points (9g, 1a) respectively.

Leading the Clan’s back end is senior captain LSM Curtis Manning who was an MCLA 1st Team All-American in 2008. Sophomore Lake Generux returns to provide Manning with very capable back-up. As a freshman, Generux was named to the 2007 PNCLL All-Conference 1st Team before sitting out 2008 to coach oversea. At long pole, a trio of sophomores in Curt Brown, Nathan Clark, and Matt Miyashita have anchored the Clan defense. Senior’s Calvin Castagner and Matt Brasica with the addition of freshman Dan Patterson make Fraser’s defense one of the deepest in the MCLA. Junior captain Ben Johnson and sophomore James Pogelfeld continue to log heavy minutes at defensive midfield, often drawing the task of shutting down the opponents top midfield line. Junior Mike Ripley and Sophomore Dean Stewart have split equal time in net the past five games backstopping the Clan to a 6-0 record.

Six games remain on the 2009 regular season schedule, including one versus the No. 12 ranked University of Oregon (April 5) and one game versus an OOC opponent on the road against University of Arizona (April 12). The Clan have one home contest remaining versus Portland State University (March 28 “Senior Day”) and also play pivotal conference match-ups on the road versus Oregon State University (April 4), Montana (April 5) and Gonzaga University (April 26).

The PNCLL Final Four Conference Championships will take place May 2 & 3 at Curt High School in Tacoma Washington. The MCLA National Championship Tournament is May 12-16 at Dick’s Sporting Goods Park in Denver, Colorado.

SFU’s men’s lacrosse is in its 13th season and competes in the Men’s Collegiate Lacrosse Association (MCLA). Coaches Catrina & Hoskins look to lead the Clan into the PNCLL Final Four Conference Championships for the 129th time in team history. The team has captured seven Conference Titles (1997, 1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, 2003 and 2008) and has earned eight National Championship appearances, placing 2nd in 1999 and most recently reaching the 2008 Quarterfinals. The Clan are proudly sponsored by Firstar Performance Apparel, Riddell Helmet and Gait Lacrosse. For further information on Simon Fraser men’s lacrosse please visit www.sfulacrosse.com.
Salmonbellies Repeat as Florida NDP Champs

By: LacrosseTalk Staff

For the second year in a row the New Westminster Salmonbellies were crowned champions of the Tournament of Champions junior field lacrosse tournament in Florida. This marked the first repeat champions in Tournament of Champions history.

The Tournament of Champions highlighted twenty-seven high school aged club lacrosse teams from around North America (USA and Canada) during the three day event January 2-4, 2009 at the Wesley Chapel District Park in Pasco County, Florida.

The Salmonbellies compiled a flawless tournament record with six straight victories before reaching the finals. Tournament scores were: 19-2 over Bamalax; 11-5 over Steel City Selects (PA); 18-3 over Tampa Bay Fire; 20-1 over Maryland Lacrosse Club 8-7 in the finals.

The Salmonbellies were victorious edging the Maryland Lacrosse Club 8-7 in the finals. With time running out, the winning goal was scored by attackman and tournament MVP Brandon Goodwin.

The whole team went crazy and I couldn’t believe we were so close to defending the national championship,” said an elated Goodwin. “I was just glad it went in.”

But the humble New West product knew his efforts were only as good as his team’s efforts. “It was a fantastic honour to win the [MVP] award but this was a team victory,” said Goodwin. “Every player on our team picked it up after halftime and I happened to be in the right spots at the right time.”

Also scoring in the final for New Westminster were Reid Mydske, Matthew Dinsdale, Tyler Digby, Richard Lachlan and Kevin Schoemaker.

New West scored four goals in a five-minute span to take its first lead of the game, 7-6, with 8:16 remaining after trailing 4-2 at halftime. Even though they were the defending champions, the Salmonbellies weren’t even considered one of the top five seeds heading into the tournament. “I think after last year, teams have started to respect the Canadian version of field lacrosse,” noted Bradley. “By playing at a high pace we force the opposition to make mistakes and that’s exactly how we scored the final goal.”

This year’s version of the Salmonbellies only had seven returning players from the 2008 championship team and was a cohesive combination of athletes from New Westminster, Coquitlam and Port Coquitlam.

The Canadian hybrid version of field lacrosse is a mix of box and field lacrosse – a brand more coaches are trying to employ south of the border. A version that is different from the US traditional variant of lacrosse that it is receiving more respect by purists.

You just have to look at the 2009 Salmonbellies field team that is now the first repeat champs of the Tournament of Champions to confirm our version is successful.

Gerry Van Beek

Gerry Van Beek (BCLA VP Administration)

It all began in 1975, the first year Gerry was encouraged to play lacrosse in Burnaby. Short of missing a few seasons to start a family, Van Beek has been involved as a player, coach and administrator for over 4 decades.

Gerry began volunteering with Port Coquitlam Minor when he started coaching his son Rob in 1990. He coached in PoCo every season from 1990 up to the time Rob graduated from Junior A in 2006.

He not only added his input behind the bench but served on the executive as the PCMLA Head Coach and President for eight years. In 2000, Gerry and his PCMLA executive were the Leon Hall Award recipient as BCLA Minor Association of the Year.

Gerry got more involved at the provincial level as a coach clinician and BCLA Chair (1999-2005) while coaching Intermediate and Junior A teams. He also sat on the CLA Board for 4 years as Box Sector Chair. Once his CLA tenure was complete, he was elected to the BCLA executive as the VP of Administration – a position he holds today. Gerry currently is the GM of the WLA’s Langley Thunder.

Van Beek has remained active as a master’s box and field player as far back as 1996. His best memories as a player includes the trip to Ontario as a youth; as a coach, his Midget and Junior teams; and as an administrator winning the 2000 Association of the year award.

Congratulations Gerry!!

Youth & Collegiate Field Lacrosse take Centre Stage at 3rd Annual
Maple Leaf Awards

By: William Howard, SFU Lacrosse Media Relations

On Saturday, January 24th, the Simon Fraser University (SFU) men’s field lacrosse program hosted the third annual Maple Leaf Awards in the showroom at Westwood Plateau Golf & Country Club. Set high above Coquitlam on Eagle Mountain, a crowd of approximately 225 lacrosse enthusiasts from throughout British Columbia attended the annual awards dinner and silent auction that has quickly become one of Canada’s premier lacrosse events. Presented by Firstar Performance Apparel, Gait Lacrosse and Riddell Helmets, the black tie evening continued to celebrate Canada’s national summer sport by recognizing youth and collegiate field lacrosse in British Columbia.

Similar to the NCAA’s Tewaaraton Gala, the Maple Leaf Awards are the first event of its kind in Canada. Scott Rintoul, from the TEAM 1040 Sports Radio in Vancouver, returned for his third year as the evening’s Master of Ceremonies where, in his opening address, he discussed the continued rise of Simon Fraser as one of the leading collegiate field lacrosse programs in North America, compiling a 25-4 record (462) since 2006. The Clan has posted a more two losses each of the last two seasons, losing twice to national runner-ups, New Westminster and Coquitlam, in 2007 and twice to national semi-finalists, Brigham Young University, in 2008.

After the evening’s opening address, guests were treated to a three course plated dinner before celebrating the evening’s award winners. The awards presentation recognized the 2008 BCLA Provincial Champions for all levels of youth field lacrosse while honoring in the upcoming championship season by introducing Simon Fraser’s incoming 2009 freshman class, and celebrating SFU Field Lacrosse 2008 award winners, PNCLL All-Conference and MCLA All-American honours recipients. New to the evening’s program, the Awards Dinner & Silent Auction also acknowledged individual player awards for the 2008 summer and fall tournaments of the Burnaby Mountain Selects Elite Touring Teams that competed in Denver, New York, Charlotte, Baltimore and Florida. Eighty-three players in grades 9-12 from Vancouver’s Lower Mainland, Island and BC Interior were selected to play for the Selects in 2008, a program designed to train elite student-athletes in a professional environment to best prepare them for a collegiate field lacrosse career.

The evening’s most moving moment came as SFU recognized rising junior, Matt Esaw, who will forego his senior year of eligibility in 2009 to serve overseas in the Canadian Armed Forces. Esaw left for Canadian Forces Base Edmonton on February 1st where he will participate in six months of training before his scheduled departure to Afghanistan in September. The Clan lacrosse tradition is to award a player with his “Red” Away Jersey at either the completion of his academic degree or end of his four year eligibility as a player. In a very emotional presentation, Esaw received a standing ovation from all those in attendance as he was awarded his “Red” 02 jersey, a moment that will continue to serve as an inspiration for his teammates.

Concluding the memorable evening was a keynote interview with one of the game’s biggest stars, Brodie Merrill. Deemed the “Best Lacrosse Player in the World” by Inside Lacrosse Magazine in 2006, Brodie is a star in both the NLL and MLL. Brodie talked about his time at Georgetown University where he was a two time All American in 2004 and 2005 and finish his NCAA career as a Tewaaraton Trophy finalist, an award given to the top American college lacrosse player. He also discussed his approach to the game and dedication to hard work that made him the first pick in the 2005 NLL Entry Draft, en route to being named both the 2006 NLL Rookie of the Year and Defensive Player of the Year, MLL Rookie of the Year in 2005 and back to back Major League Lacrosse Defensive Player of the Year in 2006 and 2007. Merrill also talked about his experience on the international stage where he helped the Canadian men’s national team to an historic win at the 2006 World Lacrosse Championship in London, Ontario. Brodie had an outstanding tournament, being named Best Defender and earning All-World honors. Currently, Brodie plays for the Portland Lumberjacks in the NLL, Rochester Rattlers in the MLL, works for Reebok and is the assistant athletic director at The Hill Academy in Ontario.

In addition to the event’s silent auction, a lucky winner walked away with airfare for two to New York with Cathay Pacific as the grand prize for the Balloon Pop. Proceeds raised from the Maple Leaf Awards benefit the SFU Lacrosse endowment fund and youth and collegiate field lacrosse in BC. For a complete list of award winners or more information on Simon Fraser Lacrosse or Burnaby Mountain Selects please visit www.sfu lacrosse.com or www.selects lacrosse.com.

Spartan Head Coach Darren Reisig’s squad has continued to work hard this season, but will have their work cut out for them after finishing in 3rd place at their own tournament. The loss of nine grade 12 students to graduation has made this year more of a challenge for the Spartans. But this was one team that travelled to compete at the Ultimate Lacrosse Shootout held in Annapolis, Maryland in November. The Spartans played all star club teams from all over the Eastern States and did extremely well - they won 5, lost 2 and tied 1.

New Westminster Hyacks, who lost to Best in the Spartan Shootout, will be looking to avenge that loss and put their names back on the trophy for a third time. Many of these athletes played for their community team and competed at the Tournament of Champions in Florida this January. They competed against some of the top talent in all of high-school lacrosse from across the U.S. The New West squad was successful and was the first team to repeat as Tournament of Champions National champs. Look out for the Hyacks!

Host Charles Best Blue Devils will be looking to put their names on the senior trophy for the first time ever with a strong team that hopes to put it all together. With a Spartan Shootout title under their belts, the Blue Devils are a confident squad playing at home. With the loss of coach Daren Fridge, new Coach Derek Lowe, will have some big shoes to fill. This local lacrosse star is no stranger to a high level of lacrosse competing with the WLA’s Burnaby Ridge Barrards and the Portland Lumberjacks of the NLL. Lowe will prepare his group well and guide his troops to a strong finish.

Other contenders include Heritage Woods, Pitt Meadows, St. Thomas More and Delta. Also fielding teams will be Burnaby North, Vancouver College, Pinetree, Terry Fox and Riverside. Other potential competing schools include Tweedsmuir, Kwantlen, Sands, Seacquam, McNair and Samuel Robertson.

At press time, this tournament was cancelled due to snowy weather and may be re-scheduled at a later date.
Truant is New WLA Commissioner

By: LacrosseTalk Staff

After 10 seasons serving as the Western Lacrosse Association Commissioner and Co-Commissioner, Sohen Gill has passed the reigns to lacrosse enthusiast Ernie Truant.

Truant, a long-time supporter of lacrosse has been involved in the sport for over 37 years in various roles. His first job was as a coach in the South Burnaby Minor Lacrosse Association where he coached his son Al.

“I was very involved in hockey and a friend asked if I thought of putting my son into lacrosse – well, we fell in love with it ever since,” explained Truant.

After joining the North Burnaby Minor Lacrosse Association in the 1970’s, Ernie continued to coach under the watchful eye of the late great Jack Crosby.

Moving through the coaching ranks, Ernie coached the Burnaby Jr. A Lakers in 1988 with Hall of Famer Bob Salt – but bigger and better things were ahead for this lacrosse-tifer.

He returned to the bench in 1992 with the New Westminster Jr. Salmonbellies. In the third year of his tenure, Truant and ex-Simon Fraser University Basketball head coach Stan Stewartson, built a team that would compete for and win the 1994 Minto Cup in seven games.

“Not too many people knew I was the head coach of that team,” mentioned Ernie. “Stan was an incredible coach to work with. The Minto Cup was a fantastic experience I will never forget.”

Earlier that Spring prior to the Minto Cup, Ernie had the scare of his life while watching a lacrosse game at Queens Park Arena. Sohen Gill happened to be at that same game and offered some advice that would change Truant’s life forever: “Sohen came up to me and said geez Ernie you look as white as a sheet,” remembered Truant.

Little did Ernie know that he had suffered a heart attack and was hours away from near death. “If it wasn’t for him [Gill] I wouldn’t have known I was having a heart attack,” said Truant. “He kinda saved my life – I’ve always been grateful to him for that.”

Truant would stay close to lacrosse helping the odd team as they needed a coach or executive. “Not too many people knew I was the head coach of that team,” mentioned Ernie. The 2008 Minto Cup was a fantastic experience I will never forget.”

Ernie Truant is the 2009 WLA Commissioner

WA game as he held the role of WLA Game Commissioner for over 7 seasons. So why take on the overall commissioner job?”I’ve been a game commissioner for some time and feel I can handle the job [Commissioner] while adding a few things I’ve learned over the years,” said Truant.

Truant will serve the WLA Commissioner duties very well working closely with his old friend Sohen Gill. Ernie will surely open to any advice Gill may offer in the next chapter of his lacrosse experiences.

“I enjoy all aspects of lacrosse and it’s a great sport – we hope everyone comes out this season and enjoys some of the best lacrosse players in the World,” said Truant.

Lough Chosen to Burnaby Hall

By: LacrosseTalk Staff

Long-time and former coach of the storied Burnaby Junior A Lakers, Dr. Dave Lough, was inducted into the 2008 class of the Burnaby Sports Hall of Fame.

Lough learned his trade in eastern Canada and excelled in Junior lacrosse under the watchful eye of arguably the greatest coach of his time, the legendary Jim Bishop of the Oshawa Green Gaels.

Dr. David Lough has sent more Junior A lacrosse teams to consecutive Minto Cup championships, winning five times in 1998, 2000, 2002, 2004 and ‘05. In 13 seasons as a co-coach of the Junior A Lakers, Lough’s only losing season was the first season in 1995. During his tenure, Lough fashioned a career league record of 248 wins and just 36 losses, winning 10 regular season titles from 1996 to 2002, and again in 2004 and 2005. In the playoffs, the Lakers were almost unbeatable, taking 12 straight BC titles, winning 82 times and losing just 15. In 12 consecutive appearances at the Minto, under Lough, Burnaby featured in 10 final title series or games in a row. His overall career coaching record with the Junior A Lakers was 365 wins and 81 losses.
Looking Ahead to the '09 BCJALL Season

By: Brad Challoner

The ice is still in all arenas around the province but every BC Junior “A” Lacrosse League team is training for 2009. This year is special as the first group of Midget draughts from ‘07 will finally enter the league. It will still be a war for first as New West, Victoria and Coquitlam battle it out, but the rest of the league is wide open. Nanaimo will make a strong push for fourth, and the Langley Thunder with South Fraser Stickmen, will look for new beginnings in their new home, the Langley Events Centre. The first game is still over a month away, but we would like to weigh in and take a early look at standings and see what each team will look like come May.

The New Westminster Salmonbellies are the favourites heading into 2009. They made a big splash this off-season signing University of Delaware and ex-Poco Stickmen standout Curtis Dickson. Dickson sat out the 2008 box season but amassed 153 points over three Junior “A” years. He’ll be backed up by a strong group of returning players including Kevin Crowley, Eric Lewthwaite and goaltender Ray Hodgkin. This is the team that played for the Minto Cup in 2007 with many players who were rookies back then who are now 21-year-old veterans. The 2008 Minto experience will help the Victoria Shamrocks who will battle for first. They made it as far as the final could carry them reaching the Minto Cup final and losing. That experience left a bad taste in the mouths of skilled players like Matt Yager, Mike Pires and Joel Henry who will look for redemption in ‘09. Off season signings Nate Clare and Ben Towner make their offence even more lethal. That offence is backed up by a defensive core but will have to fill the big shoes of graduating Goalie of the Year Matt Flindell.

Coquitlam lost a lot of fire power to graduation but with strong drafting and player development they will still finish near the top. Returns Jordan Weir and Mike Krogovich combined for 28 power play goals last season. Matt Boers will step in as the undisputed leader of the defense and rookie Robert Church, who led Intermediate “A” in scoring, will add to the goal scoring punch. The A’s have the best skilled players with Coach Dan Perreault returning for another season while adding Dwight Maetche bringing years of NLL goaltending experience to the mix. Expect to see an improvement in the A’s defensive end.

The Langley Willenheren will be the Nanaimo Timbermen. They have the best skilled players like Matt Yager, Mike Pires and Joel Henry who will look for redemption this year. The Willenheren will look for another season with Dwight Maetche bringing years of NLL goaltending experience that will help the A’s back end.

Rounding out the top four will be the Burnaby Lakers. Their fifth season in the league will be their best season to date. A new ownership group is in place with Tyson Lees, Forbes Mitchell, Paul Meakes and Dave Brenner.

“We feel with the young talent we have signed, the upcoming draft and with good people in place, we will be the team to be reckoned with this season,” noted Coquitlam’s Devin Eldridge.

Superstar Cody Brenner finished second in goal scoring last season and took home rookie of the year honours just ahead of his teammate Cotton Clark. Jonathan Diplock will be a team leader in his fourth season – Ryan Ford and Matt Wray will add leadership as veterans. The Delta Islanders could surprise a lot of people this season and make a playoff run. Greg Remien, the new head coach, has a well respected member of the lacrosse community in Delta and has had success in all levels. Returning home are Dane Stevens and Jason Jones who were dealt at the deadline last season. They will run the offence with Robbie Campbell works the left side. Intermediate star Logan Schuss should make a seamless jump into Junior joining his brother Carson. The Islanders are a crash and bang kind of team and will push Poco, Langley and Burnaby based on their toughness alone.

The Port Coquitlam Saints have some offensive upside. Jordan Flaman, Darcy Cummings and Trevor Evans are the top guns, but all three players may have a tougher time against tough Defenders. The Coquitlam left side is strong and it will be interesting to watch their 2007 draft picks, as this may be the first team to really benefit from the draft. Expect them to have a strong offensive season that can benefit the defense.

It’s a new beginning for the Langley Thunder. Unfortunately they might still be a few seasons away from big successes. A team that has taken the draft very seriously they hope will produce the players that they need. A first time since…my memory doesn’t go back that far. They have the benefit of Head Coach Jamie Scott who coached their intermediates last season, who knows the talent coming up. One thing Langley doesn’t lack is heart, and Scott will have his players running for 60 minutes. It’s a new era for Junior “A” lacrosse in BC with players from every corner of the province participating. Promotion is at an all time high with some teams broadcasting games on the internet or through local cable channels, so get out and support your local Junior “A” team. There is plenty to be excited about. We’ll see you in the summer heat.

Every one said 2008 was going to be the end of the Burnaby Lakers dynasty and they still managed to get to the league finals. They only have a couple players left from the good ole days in Shaun Dhaliwal and Matt Myatun and none of the third set of new coaches in as many years. Burnaby has struggled at the Intermediate ranks the past few years but the have always remained resilient and know what it takes to win. They’ll have to keep their fingers crossed that some of these 2007 draft picks can step in the line up and make a difference. There is an outside chance they miss the playoffs for the first time since…my memory doesn’t go back that far.

It’s a new beginning for the Langley Thunder. Unfortunately they might still be a few seasons away from big successes. Ottawa, Ontario, February 16, 2009 -- The 18 players selected to represent Canada at the 2009 World Indoor Lacrosse Championship in Prague, Czech Republic, were announced by Team Canada Head Coach, Lisa Miller.

Leading the way for Team Canada will be Dana Dobbie (’03-U19), two-time ACC Player of the Year, 2008 leader in draw controls, eclipsing the NCAA single-season record with 123. She is a two-time CCA National Award finalist for the Lacrosse Player of the Year.

Returning Team Canada veterans include Tami Rayner (Jones) (’95-U19, ’97, ’01, ’05), Kylee White (Ruedel) (’95-U19, ’01, ’05), Jess Browndridge (’99-U19, ’01, ’05) and Lindsey Hart (’94-U19, ’01, ’05).

In a lead-up competition in San Diego, Team Canada was defeated by the four-time and defending NCAA Division 1 Champions, Northwestern University, and earned a victory against currently ranked 19, University of Denver.

Bill Barbour
Down Memory Lane with Stan Shawllington

Bill Barbour was a rough, rugged lacrosse athlete, most often playing brilliantly but, at times, with belligerent acrivity. Either way, his unpredictable demeanor always excited Vancouve- r fans and irritated the foe.

William Donald Barbour was born in Comox, BC, on July 25, 1935, but spent his formative years in Vancouver’s East End Ren- dfrew district.

A natural athlete, he soon caught the eye of the community’s soccer and lacrosse gurus, Pop Phillips, and, while Bill excelled at baseball and soccer, he had a preference for the rough-and-tumble boxa game.

Although a few weeks shy of his 17th birthday, Bill joined Jack McKee's junior junior junior squad in 1952, the forerunner of the 1954 and 1956 Minto Cup champions.

After enjoying one national and two provincial victories, Bill turned senior in 1956 with Vancouver – but the fans already had an inkling of what to expect. In 1954, the senior PNE Indians called him up for a game, Bill obliging with a hat-trick. Six more “call-up” games in 1955 resulted in another 11 goals.

Then came 1956 – his first, full year at the senior level produced 50 goals in 27 games, plus 108 minutes in penalty time. He was the unanimous choice for Rookie-of-the-Year honours.

As a goal scorer, a power-play set-up man and a hard-hitting defender, Bill was outstanding, but he did have an Achilles heel -- his mouth and temper.

In 1958, he was suspended for 10 games for manhandling a referee, and, two years later, was fined $100 and suspended eight games for publicly criticizing league officials. Only two other players were assessed more misconduct penalties in Western senior lacrosse history.

A back injury also plagued Bill during his 13-year career, limiting him to just six games in 1962, nine games in 1964 and none in 1965.

Bill was a major cog in Vancouver’s 1961 victory over Brampton for the Canadian title. In doing so, he won the Mann Cup series’ Most Valuable Player. He was also a valuable member of three more Vancouver Mann Cup championship teams – 1963, 1964 and 1967.

After his 346-game senior career, the three-time All-Star accumulated 676 points on 398 goals and 178 assists. Oh, yes, his penalty minutes totaled 865. He was inducted into the Canadian Lacrosse Hall of Fame in 1985.

Unfortunately, Bill Barbour passed away on December 4, 2008.
Goaltending great retires after 18-year career in Philly & Portland

Dallas Eliuk announced his retirement on Tuesday, following a legendary 18-year playing career. He played 15 seasons in Philadelphia before playing the final three seasons of his career in Portland. Eliuk will remain with the LumberJax as a coach.

After a distinguished 18-year professional indoor lacrosse career that includes four Championships, nine All-Pro Awards and two championship games Most Valuable Player Awards, future hall-of-fame goalie Dallas Eliuk has decided to retire, the Vancouver, British Columbia native announced.

"After 38 years of play in the sport I love, I have the utmost respect for lacrosse and an unwavering desire to serve the game, my team and the fans," said Eliuk. "As the utilization of

Bantam Girls join National Tournament stage in 2009

By: LacrosseTalk Staff

The 2009 minor box lacrosse season on the national stage will feature the addition of the Bantam Girls to the Youth Box Lacrosse Nationals format for 2009. The Bantam Girls championship will bring provincial teams together across Canada to compete for the first all-female box lacrosse national title.

The Bantam Girls National box lacrosse tournament will be played along side the Pee Wee and Bantam National tournaments this August. The Pee Wee event was resurrected in 2004, while the Bantam girls have run annually at the Ontario Lacrosse Festival. The Midget Nationals was revived for the first time last summer in Calgary after being mothballed since 1992.

The move made by the Canadian Lacrosse Association (CLA) to feature a national championship for Bantam Girls will allow female players to develop and excel in the sport at an elite level, and advance the structure of lacrosse nation-wide.

"One of the key goals in the CLA strategic plan is to increase participation by women in lacrosse," reported CLA President Joey Harris. "One of the fastest areas of growth is in girls playing box lacrosse. We feel that that the transition of skills between the box game, and the women's field game will develop much like it has with the men, providing more opportunities for women to play whichever form of lacrosse they prefer."

This year, up to seven MA's or MA's have indicated intention to participate in the Bantam Girls National, including the Lacrosse Associations of Alberta, British Columbia, Ontario, Nova Scotia, and New Brunswick. By targeting the Bantam's is a true indication that there are plenty of 13 and 14 year old girl box lacrosse participants.

"As with any new program, you look where the likelihood of success is greatest," explained Harris. "The committee felt that this age bracket would be the best based on the number of players currently playing in the various provinces."

"The future of women's box lacrosse looks promising," said CLA General Manager David Mignay. "The addition of more championships will be based on the ability of our provinces to field teams in other age groups. I could see us having a Midget event in a couple of years with the caveat that the aging girls are also being replaced at the lower age categories to continually feed the system."

In 2006, CLA Member Associations reported approximately 2,272 girls were playing in female box lacrosse leagues, not including girls on boy's teams - which would increase the overall number of girls in box lacrosse. In 2007, that number was 2666 with a small drop reported for 2008 of 2312 girls.

A female competing in box lacrosse was nothing new as many would be placed on boy's teams. But once a certain age that participation would drop as girls would leave the sport and not be retained. But since the late 90's, the growth of all female teams competing against each other has exploded. And there may be a method to develop our women's with the indoor game and transition them at some point to women's field lacrosse.

"The key is getting the girls to pick up a stick and embrace the game of lacrosse, explained Harris. "This is a great opportunity for women playing a form of lacrosse in general. Once that is done, and like the boys, they will look at the field game and give it a try."

One only needs to look at the men's and women's field lacrosse national teams. At some point, most of those athletes grew up with box lacrosse and honed their skills outdoors at the club and or collegiate level. This could be the needed boost for women's field lacrosse to help grow the numbers nationwide.

"The number of women playing women's field lacrosse has been slightly decreasing over the last few years," commented Harris. "We feel lacrosse can mirror what has happened in hockey where women's youth hockey has exploded due to the increased opportunity to play girls and the success of the women's national team program. While some women's field "purists" feel this is a threat to their version we feel it is an opportunity to bring more girls into lacrosse which would spill over into both versions."

Team BC's first Bantam Girls Head Coach, Richard Brownning, has coached girls' box lacrosse in New Westminster since its inception some 8 years ago and is looking forward to the challenge.

"It's exciting for the kids and a great opportunity to mentor Brownning. "One of the reasons I got involved was I felt comfortable and have been involved with the girls game for some time last summer in Calgary after being mothballed since 1992.

The outlook for the Team BC Bantam Girls team is very positive with some exceptional lacrosse talent -- the bigger job will be to build a cohesive team concept.

"In terms of expectations, I think there is a good outlook towards it [the team] and there's a group of good athletes," said Brownning. "The task for the coaches is to determine the type of team and bring them together."

The Bantam Girls National will run alongside the Pee Wee and Bantam National tournaments at the Ontario Lacrosse Festival at Whilby's Inoquus Park. The Pee Wee and Bantam boys tournaments run August 2-8 while the Bantam girls August 4-8.

"We're looking forward to seeing some outstanding athletes and great lacrosse teams," said Brownning. "I would like it has with the men, providing more opportunity for the women's field lacrosse."

The addition of the Bantam Girls will prove to be a great success and will be the catalyst to larger participation in the game.

"It gives them [the girls] a goal to shoot for," said Brownning. "It's a great stepping stone hopefully they can keep building on it."
Lacrosse Fitness 101: 2 Minutes for Speeding

By: Jeff Cathrea, B.Sc. Kinesiology

Remember the anti-speeding ad campaign: “Speed Kills” Where these ads were used to remind people to slow down while driving. Well, in the sport of lacrosse, these ads certainly ring true, speed does kill, it kills your opponent. So how does an athlete get fast if they are not naturally blessed with blazing speed or lightning fast quickness? The answer lies in your SAQ’s.

Speed, agility and quickness (SAQ) drills are exercises that train the neuromuscular system to activate your fastest twitch muscle fibers. Your nervous system needs conditioning the same way your muscular system or aerobic system needs training. By developing your nervous system to become more efficient, essentially what you are doing is teaching your body how to activate all premotor muscle fibers for a specific movement. Once your body is able to turn on all the muscle fibers of a muscle, the movement is going to become much more efficient as a direct result of increased nervous system activation. This increased efficiency will lead to increased speed, a quicker first step and lightning fast reflexes.

So how does one effectively train the nervous system? The golden rule for developing speed and quickness is this: “In order to get fast, you must train fast.” This may sound very simplistic (and it should), however, many athletes fail to adopt this strategy while speed training. Consider this, if athletes need to perform each drill to the fastest of their current athletic potential, then how long should each maximal effort last for? To answer this it is important to realize which energy system is responsible to fuel fast twitch muscle fiber activation.

The first energy store used in explosive movement is creatine phosphate (PCr). This energy source is stored in muscle cells and is burned up in approximately 4-10 seconds of explosive activity. Therefore, any movement pattern that is designed to be concentrated on increasing speed should not be performed any longer than 10 seconds. This does not sound like a long time, but consider that most elite level lacrosse players take less than 10 seconds to sprint the full length of the floor! Because it takes approximately 2.2-2.5 minutes for the body to naturally replenish the PCr stores, rest time should follow a 1:12 to 1:20 work (exercise) to rest ratio. The number of sets of movement patterns will depend on the current fitness level of each athlete, but can range from 5-12 sets of 4-10 seconds of movement. Speed training can be implemented 3-5 times a week into regular training sessions or practices.

What types of exercises can I use to train speed? Essentially the answer lies within your (or your trainer’s) imagination. Find out which movement patterns you are performing slow while playing and mimic these movements in explosive 4-10 second intervals. The movements should start basic to begin with by using both feet or hands (for example, a side to side bounding motion), leading to more complex patterns where the bounding distance can increase and finally progressing to single foot or hand patterns. Finally, it is important to remember the golden rule of speed training when implementing speed drills into workouts or practice. “In order to get fast, you must train fast.” So make sure these drills are done directly after warm up at the beginning of your training session, not at the end so as to achieve the full speed potential of each movement.

By following my recipe for speed, not only will you develop blazing speed, awesome lateral movement and blinding quickness but you will become trained assassins, killing your opponents with speed.
